Dear Diablos,

My name is Madison Grey. I'm the Assistant Manager of Cairns Transitional Living, a brand new local non-profit (With 501(c)(3) status) in Scottsdale, AZ that offers a transitional home for 18+ year old individuals who have experienced eating disorders and are looking for a safe, supportive, stable and recovery oriented environment. Statistically, 85% of individuals with eating disorders relapse in their first year after treatment. Our home remedies this by filling the gap between treatment and post discharge life. Eating disorders are the deadliest of all mental illnesses, having higher mortality rates than even depression. Eating disorder treatment services are notoriously expensive, rare in many states (including Arizona!), and are an insurance nightmare, making access to treatment for many who are suffering limited or completely unavailable. Roughly 28 people die a DAY as a result of eating disorders, so in order to drastically decrease this staggering number, we need revolutionary and attainable treatment, which is exactly what our organization provides. We offer an affordable alternative that works to provide more accessibility to quality care for as many of the estimated over 273,000 individuals in Arizona currently suffering from eating disorders as we can, and hope to eventually grow and branch out to more of the state, and to the rest of United States to help address the estimated over eight million individuals suffering with such. We are partnered with ASU's health center, as we hope to help college students in particular, given that an estimated 20% of eating disorder sufferers are college students. Being that we are a non profit, a brand new one at that; in order to save lives and have the best services available we need donations. I'm writing you to ask if you would consider helping us save lives through donating. Any sort of donations you could supply our facility as soon as possible (no specific date) would be incredible. Your generosity means the world to us, and our patients. Please let me know if you have any questions about our organization and/or services. Thank you for your kindness and consideration.

Sincerely,
Madison Grey
